I RISE TO REMARK

BY JOHN PHILLIPS

The people are waiting for election day. By the time you read this letter we will know the results. Nervous candidates, who hopefully tried to change votes in the last days of the campaign, may now let their blood pressures down. A prominent American can now drop his unaccustomed and unbecoming robe of hate and dissension, and again be the kindly citizen of Missouri, whom everyone likes, and who much prefers the freedom of action, and the Saturday night card games, which were once his to enjoy.

The nation will adjust itself to new leadership. A younger generation,which has known but one party in office, and which thought the nation would disintegrate when Roosevelt died, will see again that the nation is stronger than the individual, and principles more enduring than men. This is not happen-chance. It is the Republic. This nation is not a democracy. It is not an autocracy, nor a dictatorship of classes, or masses, or individuals. It is a government so unique that no other nation has had it, and thus, as effect follows cause, no other government over the same period of time has remained unchanged.

Hamilton and Jay and Madison tried to explain this when through the Federalist Papers) they wrote their understandings of the new constitution, as it went from colony to colony for ratification. "Among the numerous advantages promised by a well-constructed union," said these writers, "none deserves to be more accurately developed than its tendency to break and control the violence of faction."

Formal language, but that's the way they talked in 1787. Skipping several pages, we find this: " A republic, a government in which the scheme of representation takes place, promises the cure for which we are seeking." And then, "The two great points of difference between a democracy and a republic are: First, the delegation of the government (in the republic) to a small number of citizens elected by the rest; secondly, the greater number of citizens, and greater sphere of country, over which it may be extended." A democracy, said the writers, can admit no cure for the mischiefs of faction.

We see the mischiefs of faction in the present campaign; the confusions of pure democracy in 19 measures on a ballot, with no possibility of understanding the details and technicalities. We see the benefits of the republic in the courage and understanding of a Congress which could say no to proposals of momentary political value, harmful in the long run to the people and the nation.

Let's determine that we shall understand our government, as well as support it. Let's preserve a government of principles, and be less concerned with whether a candidate sang baritone in college, or had a Bing Crosby personality for fireside chats. Lincoln was an unknown lawyer, practicing on the frontiers of the nation, 18 months before he was inaugurated President, but the principles on which he and his party stood preserved the republic and gave freedom to a race. This is still the one land of freedom; it is still America; it is still a republic.

Flyers To Make Third Attempt

Determination is the word to describe the attitude of Bill Barris and Dick Riedel following a second failure in their attempt to set a new world's aircraft endurance record.

They have set Saturday afternoon as the time for the next assault on the record to begin with takeoff again from Fullerton airport. The second attempt ended after 92 hours and 10 minutes in the air when carburetor ice forced them to land at Palmdale airport.

A complete overnaul and minor modification of the plane, "Sunkist Lady" is being completed in preparation for the Saturday takeoff.

Lt. Gov. Knight To Address Kiwanis Meeting

Fred R. (Pop) Dukes, chairman of the next Kiwanis meeting to be held Tuesday evening, November 9, reported today that he has definite assurance that Lt. Governor Goodwin J. Knight will be present to address the group on that night.

Dukes stated that every Kiwanian has invited a veteran to be his guest for the occasion and at least one-hundred men of this community are expected to be on hand to share in this outstanding meeting.

The regular 6:30 dinner meeting form will be followed but the location of the affair will change from the youth building to the American Legion Hall.

The Kiwanis club passed up their regular Tuesday evening program to listen to election returns and talk over plans for the remainder of the year.

McFadden Wins Over Baker In Supervisor Race

A decisive margin of 3,838 votes in Orange county gave Ralph J. McFadden, Placentia rancher, the position of supervisor to represent the 3rd district. He defeated incumbent James A. Baker who has held the post for eight years by a vote of 11,367 to 8,529.

Cypress reflected the county trend with McFadden winning by a margin of only 56 votes. The precinct totals were split, Baker carrying two and McFadden two but the latter's plurality was enough greater to carry the town. McFadden was supported by Haskell Kelley who lost the race in the primary election last spring.

This was the only exciting race as far as county politics were concerned and attention of most Orange county voters centered on it. McFadden went into the final stretch conceded a slight edge by virtue of nosing out Baker by 238 votes in the June election. Probably the 2203 votes polled by two other candidates in the primary were swung to McFadden in the final election.

Fair Draws Record Crowds

Revival of a series of prewar fairs but more elaborate than any of them despite the fact that less than two months was spent in its preparation, the Orange County Fair of 1948 drew a record list of entries and exhibits—and record crowds as well.

People jammed in at the rate of 2000 per hour; total attendance figures are expected to be somewhat astronomical.

The visitors found a well-balanced exposition housed in big tents, with a brightly-lighted midway that got a heavy play all during the four days. And a 5000-seat arena was jammed every night for an entertainment program and each afternoon for a horse show where blooded and western mounts were put through their paces for a series of awards.

A 1948 fair had to be presented—or the sponsoring 32nd Agricultural District would lose a $65,000 allotment due Orange County from its share of parimutuel race track money. So the district's directors, known as the Fair Board, decided to put on the show.

County Property Assessed Higher

Taxable property in Orange county for the current fiscal year, assessed at $404,471,800, shows a 110 per cent increase over the prewar $192,420,128 valuation for 1941-42, California Taxpayers' association said today, making public its study of trends in taxable valuations in California counties.

The 1948-49 taxable valuation of the county includes $215,832,120 in land, $167,426,390 in improvements and $48,282,920 in personal property and money; deducted from the total, there was $27,069,630 in exemptions.

Over the state as a whole, taxable valuations for 1948-49 are assessed at 66 per cent or two-thirds more than the total value of taxable property for 1941-42.

A get-together of the brothers and sisters in the Miles family took place last week at the home of Rollin Miles on Crescent street. The host was ill and unable to attend the dinner at the Chungking cafe in Anaheim but enjoyed visiting with his family. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miles of Redlands, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burroughs of Colton; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Foster and Mr. and Mrs. William Foster of Bellflower; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Miles of Sierra Madre; Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Miles of Pasadena; Courtney Miles, son of the Rollin Miles and his fiancee, Miss Nadene Wendell of Artesia.

Last Hearing On Zoning Set For November 17

Designed to improve land use administration by zoning unincorporated areas of the county, thereby eliminating procedure requiring land use permits and saving the public an estimated $4000 a year, or more, proposed amendment to the county's land use ordinance is set for final public hearing before the county supervisors November 17 at 10 a.m.

The new amendment provides for four zones or districts to cover the present unclassified area, M-3 district, which comprises 99 percent of the county's unincorporated area. The new districts would be designed as "general agricultural," "suburban residential," "general business" and "light industrial."

This would follow the general plan of land use adopted June 17, 1947, by the board of supervisors as part of the master zoning plan, as recommended by the county planning commission.

The new ordinance would amend the original land classification and districting ordinance, No. 351, and would repeal the interim ordinance, No. 477, under which the county has administered land use for the last three years.

Under the interim ordinance, with the entire unincorporated area unclassified as M-3 district, excepting the detailed zoning plans adopted for South Laguna and Emerald Bay, it is necessary to obtain a land use permit for any new enterprise, the fee for such permit being $10. In three years, under the existing interim ordinance, some 1800 land use permits have been handled, at an annual cost of $6,000 to the public.

Under the proposed amendment, fully 60 per cent of new businesses or industries would locate as a matter of course in the district zoned for them, without necessity of applying for permits, it is estimated by Planning Director Charles H. Diggs. Exceptions would be those involving variances or conditional permits in locations not zoned for the business in question. Amendment to the original ordinance 351 also would deal with proper handling of variance and conditional permits.

Two hearings already have been conducted, the most recent being held at Garden Grove.

MRS. J. VAN DYKE WINNER OF MANY PRIZES AT FAIR

Participating in the recent Orange county fair at Anaheim, Mrs. Jake Van Dyke entered several exhibits from Cypress in the home economics department.

Her entries were judged best for a pair of pillow slips, and a table centerpiece, for which she received blue ribbons and three dollars cash award on each. A crocheted chair set was adjudged as second best in its division, for which Mrs. Van Dyke received a red ribbon and two dollars cash award. Third prize winners, receiving a white ribbon and one dollar each were given for one silk quilt entered in the competition and one cotton quilt, in the sunburst pattern.

BILL OF RIGHTS WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Plans are underway for the 1948 celebration of Bill of Rights Week, starting December 12 and ending December 18, observing the 157th anniversary of the signing of the first ten amendments to the constitution, ratified December 15, 1791.

Circus To Top Veterans' Day

Orange County's great patriotic celebration on Veteran's Day November 11, will be concluded with a circus featuring many of the nation's foremost performers in animal, trapeze, acrobatic, acrobatic trapeze and clown acts. The big circus acts will be performed in the Santa Ana Bowl beginning at two o'clock.

This was announced by Newell A. Lucas who heads the general committee of Disabled Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion. These organizations have joined to observe November 11 as a day upon which the message will be carried that America can maintain "Peace Through Preparedness."

"Following the big parade of Veterans groups, many bands, floats and military units through downtown Santa Ana, the very fine circus performance will be open to the public," Lucas said.

"It will be a very wonderful three ring circus, well worth the nominal price of admission. Monte Blue, famous motion picture star will be master of ceremonies. One of the features will be a balloon ascention and parachute jump," he said.

In addition to the marching groups of veterans and active armed service units with their bands, more than 100 riders, mounted on the finest horses with silver mounted saddles will be in the parade which will form at East Fourth and Garfield, move west to Flower and north to the Santa Ana Bowl. The judges' reviewing stand will be at Fourth and French streets.

Grand Marshall of the parade will be Colonel Nelson M. Holderman, Orange County hero and holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor. Mrs. Emma Christensen, Orange County's first Gold Star Mother, will be the "Queen of the Day" and will lead division No. 2 of the parade. "We expect that more than 100,000 people will witness our big parade, the circus and attend the American Legion and VFW dances in the evening," Lucas said.

PARENTS OF NEW BABY RETURN FROM ARABIA

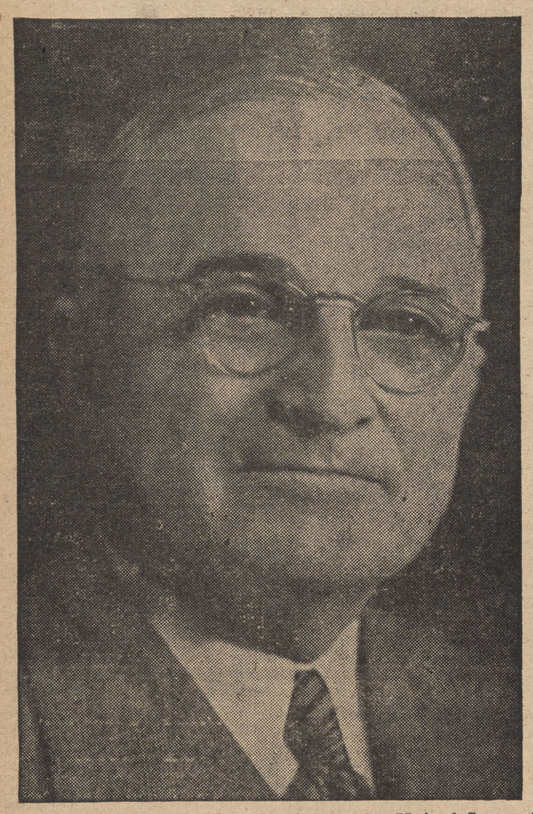
A son, Gregory Lee, was born on October 27 to Mr. and Mrs. Ross V. Flachmeier at Seaside hospital in Long Beach. The baby weighed seven pounds and two ounces.

The little family is staying in the home of the baby's proud aunt, Alma Adams, at 9561 Granam street, where she operates a chicken ranch. The Flachmeier's only recently arrived in the United States from Arabia.

Contest On Air Aids Mentally Ill

Did you know that one out of every ten persons in the United States will some day need psychiatric care? That one out of every two hospital beds in the United States is occupied by a mental patient in a mental hospital? That one out of twenty fifteen-year olds will some day be a patient in a mental hospital?

Because of these startling figures, the sponsors of Ralph Edwards' "Truth or consequences" program on Saturday evening has placed at the disposal of the National Mental Health Foundation, Inc., and the National Committee for Mental Hygiene, Inc., the proceeds from the current "Hush" contest now being conducted. A contribution to either organization will help to keep America strong—physically, morally and mentally.



Elected to the top executive position in the United States for another four year term by a decisive electorial vote of 279, President Harry S. Truman was credited with winning the election almost single handed.

IT'S BEING SAID - - IN CYPRESS

That we've missed seeing C. W. Biggs around town every afternoon about four o'clock, and have been quick to give the information that he is on an extended trip back east. But we forgot to chronicle it in the columns of the local news. Business in the donut shop will increase noticeably upon his return, and we will all be glad to have him back again.

That if we make a mistake in names this time, it will probably be our neck. But Harvey "General" Lepley is who we think is running around these days with his right arm in a sling. He cracked his funny bone—and says 'taint funny! The only time we ran his picture in the paper, we left out his name. We just can't be funny around Harvey.

That the only part of the celebration in Anaheim of which we were able to partake was the Hallowe'en parade on Saturday night. After receiving all of the ballyhoo by word of mouth at press meetings and by reams of correspondence in the mail from a very capable advertising agency, we knew the whole four days would be pretty special. As usual, they saved the best 'til the last. We recognized Deloris Cardin and Carroll Dewell among the beauties in one of the floats for an Anaheim automobile agency. Smart firm, to know where to look for genuine pulchritude.

That we have lots of mail to open, from all over the United States, and if any of youse guys or gals are recently from the University of Tulsa, you'll be interested in a beautiful, twelve-page issue of the brochure, "The golden hurricane" in color, which was sent out by the Department of public relations. It has a little history interspersed in its pages, but it's mostly football, natch. Or maybe you've seen it? If not, ask us about it.

That we found this "contribution" on our desk since the night the witches rode their broomsticks, and the spooks "spooked" which is the kind of thing we like to hear about: "There are always some mean kids at Hallowe'en, but the crown of gold for the best kids in the world on Hallowe'en should go to the kids that knocked on the door and said the usual "trick or treat' and after the treat was dished out the little angels noticed some one had soaped the car windows of the car and they all pitched in and cleaned the windows off. It happened in Cypress—and the treats were not anything extra or of large quantity!"

That if you don't read the classified ad section, and you did lose a coat-jacket, either to a suit or slack suit, after the White Gold Day celebration, please ask at the Enterprise office. One was found and turned in, and would probably come in handy to the owner on these chilly days.

That we couldn't find Miss Dickerson Tuesday evening this week, and were told that she was probably driving the school bus. A note on the teachers bulletin board written in a light and airy vein said 'Thanks for the buggy ride.' Investigation revealed that Driver Miles is still suffering with an infected arm, and relief driver Pape was called to another school where he is also on the list. We bet the school officials are beginning to think that nobody has more trouble than people—except Miss Dickerson, who has more trouble than time to think! Huh? Anyway, the children are being transported and school goes on.

Chance To Win In Chick Contest

Poultrymen in California will have an opportunity to win cash awards while working toward improvement of their own flocks by competing in a new three-year, nationwide program launched at a meeting of leaders of the nation's three-billion-dollar poultry industry at Lexington, Kentucky recently.

The new "Chicken-of-tomorrow" contest is designed to bring superior meat-type chickens to American dinner tables by encouraging the breeding and development of plumper, meatier birds which can be more economically produced.

Current plans call for a series of state and regional contests in 1949, additional trials in 1950, and a national championship final in 1951.

IMPROVE MAIN ROADS WITH COUNTY FUNDS INSTEAD OF FEDERAL

Westminster avenue from Seal Beach city limits to Los Alamitos boulevard, and the one mile of Los Alamitos boulevard from Westminster avenue to Garden Grove boulevard will be improved with county funds instead of federal aid money, the board of supervisors has decreed.

The funds orginally intended for that stretch will be used on Orangethorpe avenue from the county line eastward to Manchester boulevard and Harold Sprenger, county road superintendent has been instructed to work out details of the change.

Sprenger said the local work has been delayed while the State Division of Highways revised the plans until $10,000 "more than necessary" was to be expended.

Spending additional funds on Orangethorpe avenue would be warranted, Sprenger said, since that north county state highway will carry much traffic. Orangethorpe is to be a three-lane highway for the three and a half miles from the county line to Manchester boulevard requiring an expenditure of $105,000.

Cypress Follows Trend In General Election

ALBEN BARKLEY

Cypress voters in all four precincts turned out a record vote Tuesday in the general election—and followed the national and county trend closely in all respects.

The total vote cast in Cypress was 1067 with the county supervisor race between Baker and McFadden exciting the most interest. Apparently the reputation of Cypress for being a Democratic strong hold was upheld for Truman garnered 572 votes to Dewey's 454. Wallace got a slim 22 and Watson was supported by only four prohibitionists. The unopposed candidates who had won approval of both parties in the primary election again received heavy confidence votes. Congressmen with 716. Sen. Clyde Watson man John Phillips took top honors, 706, and Assemblyman Sam Collins 695. Ida Smith and a "Doyer" received two and one votes respectively for Congress.

The heavy vote in all precincts resulted in very late hours for most of the precinct officials who had to complete the count before going off duty.

Cypress V.F.W. Auxiliary Gets Successful Start

Plans are underway, and enthusiasm is at a high-pitch among the members of the newly formed auxiliary to Cypress post No. 9847 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to begin work on their project for the year, headed by Mrs. Ray E. Lucas, hospital chairman. A tentative date has been set for a visit to Brentwood on November 22. The members expect to give a party for the patients at that time, and are also very desirous of being able to take to them a supply of materials needed by the veterans who transform odds and ends into profit-making articles for sale or use in the hospital.

It was explained by Mrs. Lucas that these donations were very needed, and most of the items are the kinds of things that get thrown into trash barrels or burned. The following list will give an idea of the donations which would be appreciated: old sheeting, leather purses, discarded jewelry, canes, leather gloves, razors, zippers—any length, knitting yarn, rags for rug weaving, tooth brush handles, colored felt hats, cameras and clocks. The work done by this committee will be credited to the Cypress chapter, since it is now operating on its own, and if there are any questions concerning donations, their value or usefulness, Mrs. Lucas's telephone number is Anaheim 60153.

The auxiliary met for the first time since its institution on Thursday evening a week ago, in the school cafeteria for a school of instruction. A ritualistic team from Orange county composed of members from Anaheim, Santa Ana, Orange, Fullerton, Riverside and Garden Grove auxiliaries, under the leadership of Lucille Cousins, was responsible for the floor work, and Mrs. Billye Giles, second district president from Riverside, presided at the meeting. Other visiting auxiliaries included Buena Park and Laguna Beach.

A check for $32.50 was presented to the auxiliary for its benefit fund by the Cypress post. It was voted to purchase two blocks of Christmas seals for the benefit of the VFW home for widows and orphans at Eaton Rapids, Michigan. It was also voted to be represented in the VFW auxiliary marching unit in the Armistice day parade in Santa Ana. A regular meeting night was decided upon, which will be the first and third Thursdays in each month.

Members of the Cypress post VFW joined the auxiliary and guests for refreshments of sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee, served by the hostess committee, Jean Kreissler, Sally Reza and Frances Demaris.

Buena Park Man Demands $50,000 For Crash Injuries

Tool maker William Walsh of Buena Park today demanded $50,000 damages for injuries suffered in an automobile-truck crash last July 30 at Buena Park.

He sued John J. Swigart and the paving firm he heads; and Fred G. Dietsch, driver of one of Swigart's trucks, claiming permanent injury to his left eye, impairment of his eyesight, and several fractures resulted from the crash at Western avenue and Crescent road.

In addition to the $50,000 general damages, he seeks special awards for hospital and medical charges, $20 for ambulance fees, $35 for destruction of his eyeglasses and $150 for replacing his broken false teeth.

Walsh was passenger in a car driven by William E. Longden which crashed with the Swigart truck.

Notice

The auxiliary to Cypress post number 9847 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will have a special meeting at the schoolhouse Monday evening, November eighth. All members are urged to be present.

No School

The Cypress elementary school will be closed Thursday and Friday, November 11 and 12, because of the Armistice Day vacation.

At the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Cypress elementary school last Monday evening, two appointments were approved on the teaching staff. Miss Elizabeth Dickerson is now district superintendent and Paul Winsor is vice principal.

BAPTIST WOMEN HOLD LUNCHEON MEETING

The Women's Missionary society of the Baptist church met last week in the home of the G. O. Randall's at 3156 Norwalk avenue in Hawaiian Gardens. An all-day session was enjoyed, with a covered dish luncheon at noon. The group finished the study of the book which it has been using as a foundation for discussion for the past few weeks on women in missions.

Attending the meeting were the Reverend and Mrs. Arthur King and son David; Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Randall, Mr. and Mrs. William Boeckeler and Davie and Kathy; Mrs. T. V. Stinson, Mrs. G. L. Stowers, Mrs. A. A. Kolosky; and Mrs. O. D. Randall.

NOW, LET'S WORK TOGETHER

The election is over. The people have spoken. It is now up to all of us to put the quarrels of the campaign behind us. There are grave problems to be met. We must meet them not as Democrats or Republicans or Progressives but as Americans. That is the only way we can measure up to the demands of our time.

The over-confident Republicans will have to wait another four years to try again for the control they have so long sought in national politics. The concensus of opinion seems to be that they were beaten by President Truman almost single-handedly and by their own over-confidence.

Even without the split-vote caused by Wallace and Thurmond, it is doubtful if the Republicans could have won.

Probably the best result to come out of the upset this election produced is a united executive and legislative branch. No longer can one claim credit for the accomplishments and blame the other for the mistakes. Now the way is clear for the Democrats to "highball" and the next four years are their baby.

THEY'RE WINNING THE FIGHT AGAINST CANCER!

In Los Angeles last week, before a conference of the American College of Surgeons, a revelation was made that only 25 years ago would have been scoffed at as incredible: cancer can be cured in 50 per cent of all cases!

From all sections of the country, reports were presented of recent progress in the control of mankind's most dreaded disease. So encouraging were the reports that it was announced in summary that "cancer is not a hopeless disease, that it is being cured daily in a high percentage of cases, and that early diagnosis and early treatment can greatly improve present results."

In 1922, at another meeting of the College, the situation was very different. The main problem before that session was to determine whether or not cancer was curable at all.

The far brighter picture today is due not to miraculous discoveries of magic cures but to steady, determined effort and research on the part of the medical profession. Early treatment, it is emphasized, is the big factor in cancer cure, and the most eagerly sought advance in cancer research is development of a simple, infallible test to detect the disease in its very earliest stages.

Such a test has not yet been found. But it is the next objective in the continuing battle of medicine vs. cancer, a battle that appears well on its way to final success.

AGE OF BUCK ROGERS

For the past few thousand years, the moon has served mankind as a prop for lovers and an excuse for going crazy. Soon, however, the moon will be just another place to go for a weekend.

According to Dr. Dinsmore Alter, director of the Griffith Observatory Planetarium in Los Angeles, "an actual trip to the moon will be practical within the next twenty-five years."

Dr. Alter says there are a few technical problems to be whipped yet. But the navy predicts it will land an unmanned rocket on the moon before the end of next year and after that, who knows how soon actual passengers service will begin?

We don't certainly. And we're equally puzzled about what will happen to passengers when they arrive, for Dr. Alter also says there's so little atmosphere on the moon, "it cannot support life as we know it."

Of course, life as we know it gets rather trying at times, so perhaps a different kind of life would be an attraction. On the other hand, who wants to go to a place that hasn't any atmosphere?

We probably shouldn't treat scientific progress so lightly. However, we can't help that when the first scientists land on the moon's surface, they discover it's made of green cheese.

TRAVELOGUE

Written by W. C. Miller, former publisher of West Orange County publishing company.

The Craters of the Moon was one of the more recent national monuments to be established. The service to the public is very good. There are cabins, a store where meals are served, a campground with water and wood, a service station and a guide service if desired. There are about thirty-five miles of cinder surfaced road that leads out over the lava beds to all the principle points of interest. The fee to enter the monument is fifty cents a car.

The vastness of the place and the great seas of topsy-turvey cooled hot stuff can be seen from the highway but the volcano pits, the Devil's Kitchen, the caves and much of interest must be approached to be fully appreciated. The first of the great lava flows came from a few miles north of the last flow. The first flow was even greater than the last for it extends some miles beyond the last. The first extends out into the desert some sixty or seventy miles while the last extends some thirty-five or forty miles from point of eruption.

There are miles of rollers that have cooled in the process of rolling along, then there are miles of chopped seas where the spray has cooled in grotesque shapes. There are the cones that rise up a hundred feet and then there are the cinder mountains. It was out in the rolling sea that we visited the caves. There are seven known caves and there may be a million more. We had to walk a half mile over the rolling sea to the caves. The caves are about thirty feet in depth and extend hundreds of feet parallel to the surface. They would furnish cold storage space for all of Los Angeles for the floors of the waves are the most solid ice I have ever come in contact with.

I could have spent days there roaming about but Bruce and Irene were not so sure but that the third eruption might take place at any time. They slept little the night we stayed in the camp-stock. We allowed highway 93 to go south while we turned west on 30 at Shoshone. We soon came to Gooding, a prosperous town of considerable size. At Bliss we glimpsed the great Snake river that lends health and crops to a great portion of Idaho. We followed the Snake to Hammett where we turned northward toward Boise. We passed through miles of desert before reaching Boise.

Boise is a beautiful city with great public buildings and one of the most gorgeous parks we have visited. The day was very warm and we did surely welcome an hour's rest in the park beside the river where the sun did not penetrate the density of the great trees. It was here that Ruby and Irene went on a buying spree. Yes, and eating spree as well. They bought two and a half dollars worth of cherries and attempted to eat the entire purchase. Of course Bruce and I ate a few to keep the women folk from grow-grounds. So to keep nerves from frazzling we left the interesting place about ten o'clock. For miles the highway pushed through fingers of lava and climbed the mountain sides to avoid the seas. Finally the lava beds just petered out and we were on the desert proper. As we left the last of the lava Susan and I could not help but worry over the great cave that must be underneath this great lava flow.

Our highway lead to the southwest through a vast desert with now and then a little village. Then we came to the Little River and there were farms with their grains and potatoes and a few ing ill. They were wonderful cherries and we did eat.

This part of Idaho is well watered and the valley soil is deep and rich, there were beautiful farms and ranches all the way to Caldwell where we turned in north to Fruitland and then turned west and soon crossed the line into Oregon. South-eastern Oregon is not the land that the old pioneers spent so many months with the ox-team to gain. In fact, this certain part of Oregon is quite a place to be from.

Yours,
Sargum Sprout.

Poet's Corner

TO A WOULD-BE POET

If you should yearn to write a rhyme,
Start with an "if" as I have done.
Now end this line with "maritime"
Your little poem is well begun.

Contracted words you should eschew
And aim to keep your ideas terse.
You need another line or two
And there you have the second verse.

If you can add just four lines more
Your opus will be long enough.
You never would have guessed before
That you could write such foolish stuff.

Fred Goshert,
Lockport, New York.

GARDEN HINTS

(A service of the Orange County Nurserymen's Ass'n.)

VINES

Vines are among the most interesting and variable of plants, and can serve a multitude of purposes. The idea that they can do nothing but climb or cling is outmoded, for gardeners and landscape architects now prune them into shrubby forms, use them as ground-covers, and occasionally tie some, such as ivies, to stakes or to wire frames, and train them into standards.

If you want a summer blooming yellow-flowered vine to follow Carolina jessamine, plant Hibbertia volubilis (Guinea gold vine). This evergreen vine is a favorite with Southern California gardeners, and promises to become better known in other sections.

The Guinea gold vine has thick, waxy, dark green foliage and bright yellow flowers that resemble single roses. It is hardy to 25 degrees, 26 degrees, and should be planted in sunny, well-protected locations. It is not a strong grower, as it attains a height of only 12 to 15 feet, and is therefore a good vine to grow on tree trunks, on small trellises, or on low walls.

Cissus Capensis (evergreen grape) is one of the most beautiful and effective of all ever-green vines. This wild grape has small, dainty, leaves, on stems, which (on older plants) are corky in texture. In summer, it bears reddish-black, edible fruits which are highly desirable for making jelly.

Although the evergreen grape starts out slowly, it grows rapidly and vigorously after the tuberous roots become established. It requires a good deal of pruning to keep it within bounds. Some gardeners cut back the long shoots every five or six weeks during the most active growing period, rather than giving it a severe cutting back at less frequent intervals.

This vine has innumerable uses, and one of the most effective is as a continuous frame around and under the eaves of a house. (Gardeners in colder climates train hardy deciduous grapes in this manner.) When so grown, the evergreen grape must be closely clipped, or it will darken windows and look too heavy. It may also be planted on either side of doorways or arches (in the ground or in large pots) to provide a frame of green.

Perhaps the best use for this vine (at least in hot climates) is as a cool, green, overhead, covering for pergolas and terraces. Do not overlook, of course, its wonderful possibilities as a screen for high wire fences and unsightly buildings.

Although the evergreen grape is best adapted to warmer climates, as it is hardy only to 25 or 26 degrees, it may be grown in other sections if planted out of reach of cold drafts and hard frosts. If the tops are killed, the tubers will send out new shoots in the spring.

LIGHT VINES

If you want vines to cover a light trellis or to grow on a slender post, choose one of the large-flowered clematises. You will enjoy their spectacularly beautiful flowers, as well as the delicate tracery of the slender, woody, trailing stems. The best-known large-flowered clematis is C. Jackmanii, the better forms of which often have purple flowers measuring 6 inches across. Many interesting hybrids stem from this species; they include Ramona, a silvery lavender-blue; Ville de Lyon, dark crimson; and Comtesse de Bouchard, lavender-pink. Most of these bloom until late summer.

STANTON LIONS CHANGE CLUB MEETING PLACE

Meeting place of the Lions club has been changed to Baldesarre's Italian restaurant, a new cafe on Main street east of Stanton avenue, J. E. (Pete) Pruett, president, said.

On November 15, the club will mark its first anniversary there with a ladies' night dinner.

Show For School Children Tuesday

Appearing in an assembly program for the students of the Cypress Elementary school on Tuesday will be Doug and Lola Couden who will present their acts in the school auditorum. The admission price to this program will be 15c per child. The primary grades will be entertained from 9:15 to 10:00 a.m., and the upper grades from 10:30 to 11:30.

The duo has a full "bag of tricks" for the amusement of its audiences, and advertise a puppet show; Oscar, the red-headed dummy; Honey, the calculating collie; juggling; piano accordian; and other novelties displaying skill and surprises-all for the fun and education of the kiddies.

FIFTH & SIXTH GRADES PUBLISH FIRST PAPER

A real tribute to the ability of the fifth and sixth grade pupils was the appearance last week of the first edition this year of the "Cypress school globe", volume one number one, the official publication of the Cypress elementary school. Under the direction of Mrs. Clyde Arnold, the mimeographed newspaper took the form of a four-page affair, with plenty of reading matter and some fine art work, which was colored with crayon for effectiveness. The business staff is composed of pupils from Mrs. Arnold's room, but reporters from each of the rooms and special feature articles gives the issue a well-balanced appearance. Gerry Alleman is editor-in-chief; Michael Collins, art editor; Gary Pagin, sports editor; Marilyn Wallace, club editor; Ray Decker, feature editor; Cornelia Dykstra and Beverly Woods, grade editors and Joan Cark, business manager.

The A. H. Strempels had as their guest for a few days, Mrs. Stremple's cousin, Mrs. Mary Zupon of Los Angeles.

CENTRALIA SCHOOL ELECTS STUDENT COUNCIL GROUP

Election for the students council of the Centralia school resulted in Angie Ferreira to represent the sixth grade, Paul Andrus, seventh grade, and Dorcas Phillips and Steve Stewart for the eighth grade. These students will serve for the first half of the year and have several duties. Five points each are allowed each day for attendance, punctuality and behavior, making 75 points each week for a perfect score. Every eight weeks the six students scoring the highest are taken on an educational trip, the first one this year to be taken on December eighth, if possible to the planitarium in Griffith park in Los Angeles.

The council will also have charge of the various drives such as March of Dimes, Junior Red Cross and Tuberculosis drives; assemblies and deportment on the school bus. Other projects are a lost and found department and the making of ground rules for tether ball and other games.

Figures Show Rise In Tax Costs For Orange County

Orange County's tax rate for general county purposes for this fiscal year is 1.00 per 100 of taxable valuation, compared with a $1.00 rate for 1947-48 and a $0.88 rate for 1941-42, California taxpayers' association reported today, making public its study of trends in county tax rates for the past eight years.

The county rate for each of the eight years was as follows:

General Co.

Year	Purpose	Library	Roads	Total
ORANGE
1942	$0.88	$0.027	....	$0.907
1943	.83	.027	....	.857
1944	.83	.034	.....	.864
1945	.83	.034	.....	.864
1946	1.275	.04	....	.87
1947	1.275	.038	.....	1.313
1948	1.00	.037	. ...	1.
1948	1.00	.0455	.....	1.0455
1949	1.00	.037	.037....	1.037

The county is only one of the several local governments which levy taxes on property in California, the Taxpayer's association said. Cities, school districts, and special districts also levy taxes on property.

"November sees not only an election, but local property tax bills.

"The tax bills are the result of what government is doing.

CORRIGAN- CARMICHAEL WEDDING ANNOUNCED

Coming as a surprise to their many friends is the recent announcement of the wedding of Miss Dolores Corrigan, daughter of John Corrigan of this city, and Elmer Carmichael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carmichael of Harding. The ceremony took place in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather in Las Vegas, on October 11 with the Reverend David S. Smith officiating. The couple were accompanied to the Nevada city by Mrs. Julia Johnson and Mr. Corrigan.

After a brief honeymoon in Mexico, the newly married pair returned to Buena Park where they will establish their home. Both are employed at Knott's Berry Farm.

The bride attended the Los Angeles and Long Beach schools and her husband is a graduate of Anaheim High school.

The monthly card parties sponsored by the Cypress Parent-Teacher association, which proved so successful last year, have been resumed with the first one taking place on a recent Thursday evening in the schoolhouse. Hostesses were Mrs. Joe Bailey, Mrs. Arden Hanby and Mrs. Willard Essex.

In pinochle, Stan Doerr and Mrs. H. Corby had high scores with Mrs. Russell Flynn, low. Mrs. Job Denni received high score prize in 500 for the women, and Victor Konig for the men. Mrs. Konig received the consolation prize.

High scores in hearts were held by Joe Bailey and Mrs. Louis Wlaschin while Mrs. Ceal Barto had low score.

Refreshments of cake and coffee followed the card party.

CLUB ENJOYS CARD PARTY IN STANTON

The home of Mrs. Ivan Mahaffie on Cerritos avenue was the meeting place on a recent evening for a group of friends who meet each month for an evening of 500. Tallies at the end of play indicated Mrs. Pete Pruett to be winner of high score prize, Mrs. John Karaker, second high while Mrs. Richard Harryman received the consolation award.

Mrs. Mahaffie concluded her hospitality by serving butterscotch pie, coffee and punch.

Fall Festival To Be Annual Affairs

So successful was the first Fall Festival promoted by the Business association in Los Alamitos that it has been decided to make it an annual affair.

Winner of the television set in connection with the barbecue tickets was H. Clonninger of Artesia; copper lamp, Mrs. Harold Palmer; copper ivy planter, Mrs. Earl Miller Revere stainless steel skillet, Mrs. Joe Hasner and Guss Cannou, silex coffee maker.

Fourteen organizations took part in the carnival and booth attractions with the Business association sponsoring the bingo game. Another favorite was that of the Altar society which sold Spanish foods. Articles from the Hobby Shop at Sawtelle were sold by the Legion auxiliary.

LOS ALAMITOS CLUB INSTALLS OFFICERS AT DINNER MEETING

Fifty-two reservations were made at Sam Sea Foods Spa at Sunset Beach on last Thursday night when members of the Business association and their wives met to celebrate the success of the recent Fall Festival. This meeting was held in lieu of the usual breakfast meeting of the Business association in Los Alamitos.

Lt. Comdr. Carrol White of Long Beach, acted as master of ceremonies in installing new officers headed by Eddie Carter, variety store proprietor, as president, to succeed Cleo DeWitt.

Mrs. James Coburn was a patient in St. Joseph's hospital where she underwent major surgery.
